

WAIVE A PLAYER

Immediate and final. He leaves your roster, his cap hit clears, and any club may sign him at the salary he was already earning.

One button on the Roster page, one confirm. Then the player sits on the Waived players board until a club with room signs him, or until the movement deadline closes it.

WHERE IT LIVES

The Roster page, one row at a time

Every player you may move has four buttons on his row. The management seats have none: they cannot be waived, traded or blocked.

1 Open Team HQ → Roster

From any hub page, open the Team HQ group in the left sidebar and pick Roster. Salaries and cap hits are public; your cap planning and your trade talks stay inside your front office.

2 Find the row, press Waive

Each rostered player's row ends in To camp · To block · Trade · Waive. Camp players and depth placements have the same buttons. Your Owner, GM and AGM read Management contract — protected instead. RULE 2.6

ROSTER ROWS · WAIVE SITS AT THE END OF THE ROW

Confirm, and he's gone

The confirm dialog says exactly what happens. There is no league-office step and no undo.

3 Read the confirm, then Waive player

The dialog reads: “They come off your roster immediately, their <salary> cap hit clears, and they become a free agent at once: any club can sign them outright, at the <salary> they were already earning, until the movement deadline (Rule 2.2). The move is logged for the whole league.” Press Waive player.

WAIVE FIGURITOWT25?

They come off your roster immediately, their $1.50M cap hit clears, and they become a free agent at once: any club can sign them outright, at the $1.50M they were already earning, until the movement deadline (Rule 2.2). The move is logged for the whole league.

4 What changes, right away

The toast reads “<player> waived — any club may sign him now.” The Squads card drops to 14 pro, the row is gone, and your cap space grows by his full salary. The transaction log posts the move to the league on its own.

Signing a waived player

The same board serves every club. A waived player is signed outright by any club, at the salary he was already earning, until the movement deadline. He is not asked.

One button, one deal (Rule 2.2). A waived player signs the moment you press Sign, at the salary he was already earning, which a waiver does not reduce; he is not asked, the league office confirms nothing, and he is on your roster immediately. Your cap space and roster room are checked when you sign, and the move is logged for the whole league.

THE BOARD · APPROACH TO TALK, SIGN TO SIGN

SIGN LEMIEUX4EVER?

He joins your training camp, because your active roster is full, the moment you confirm, at $750K to the end of the season: the salary he was already earning, which a waiver does not reduce (Rule 2.2). That is $750K against your cap, and you have $16M of room. Call him up from Team HQ when you have room. He is not asked and the league office confirms nothing; the signing is logged for the whole league.

SIGN · ONE DEAL, ONE CONFIRM

Lemieux4ever signed to the end of the season. He's on your roster.

DONE · HE IS ON YOUR ROSTER NOW

5 Open Team HQ → Free agents

In this format the page is the Waived players board: every player a club has let go. Approach opens a direct message so you can talk it over first. A full active roster no longer stops you: he joins your training camp instead, and Sign goes gray only when camp is full too (10 players).

6 Sign, and the deal is fixed

Press Sign, read the one line, press Sign player. He keeps the salary he was already earning to the end of the season, because a waiver does not reduce it, and he is yours the moment you confirm: on the active roster, or in training camp when his position group or the roster is full. There is no offer and no acceptance in this format. Clubs move players, players are not asked, and the league office confirms nothing. RULE 2.2

When a seat needs sign-off

7

Queued, then decided

The manager sees a banner, “ItzPeakz approves roster moves”, and his waiver waits under it with Withdraw. The Owner decides at Team HQ → Management → Approvals: Approve runs the waiver on the spot; Deny closes it with a note.

RULE 2.6

An Owner can set a GM's or AGM's Roster page to Owner approves. Then a waiver queues instead of acting.

ItzPeakz approves roster moves

Everything you do on this page is sent to the Owner and takes effect only when they approve it (Rule 2.6). You are told either way.

WATCH OUT

No games needed first: a player may be waived with no games played. Waiving is immediate and final: there is no waiver window, no claim order and no league-office step. The moment you confirm, the player is off your roster, he is pulled from every lineup you had filed for him, and any club may sign him, including the one you play tomorrow. Check the Road to 16 card first: the games he has played stay with him, and if he is short of the playoff floor (16 in Season 1) that is his problem on a new club, not yours.

GOOD TO KNOW

All movement, including waivers and the signing of waived players, closes at midnight at the end of the Friday of week 4, the movement deadline; after that rosters freeze through the playoffs (Rule 2.4). Moving a player to training camp is not a waiver: he stays yours, his salary still counts, and you can call him back up when his group has room (Rule 2.1). Camp holds up to 10, and your Owner, GM and AGM are never sent there.
