SIGN UP TO PLAY

Your Discord account is your login. Register by the sign-up cutoff and you're in the draft.

Sign in once with Discord and you have a league account. Then three boxes — join the server, add your EA ID, register — put you in the player pool, and your dashboard tracks all three.

Sign in with Discord

Your Discord account is your league account. One sign-in creates it — there is no separate password to make.

1 Press Join with Discord

From any page, hit Join with Discord in the top bar, or the big Sign in with Discord button on the sign-in page. For a new member this is also how you sign up.

If Discord shows "You need a verified e-mail or phone number," that is Discord, not the league — verify your email in Discord's settings. No phone is needed.

2 You come back signed in

Authorize once and Discord returns you to the page you left. The top bar swaps the Discord button for your search, bell and avatar, and the sign-in page now reads "You're signed in."

The three-box checklist

Your dashboard opens on a card called Get set up. Clear all three rows and you are in the player pool.

3 Open My Hub

Use My Hub in the top bar. As a brand-new member you land on the onboarding dashboard, where the Get set up card reads 0 of 3 done: In the league Discord, EA ID on file, Registered for the season.

4 Join the league Discord

Press Join the Discord and join the server with the same Discord account you signed in with. Game nights, codes and rulings all run there.

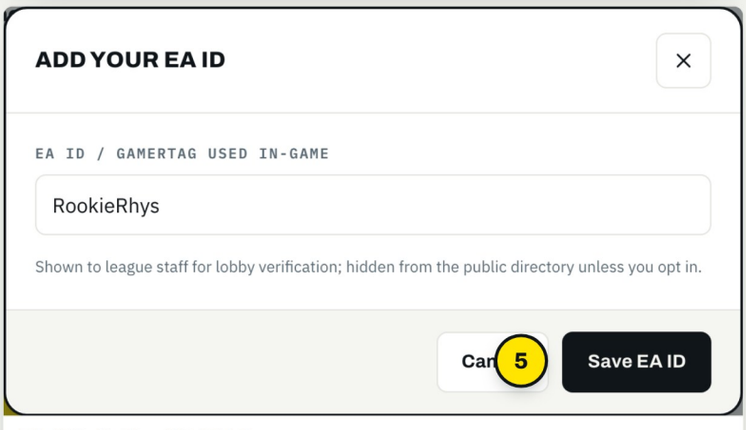

Leave the server before you are placed on a club and your sign-up is withdrawn after about a day. RULE 1.1

5 Add your EA ID

Add EA ID opens a dialog. Type the exact name you use in-game and press Save EA ID — you get "EA ID saved" and the row ticks. Staff see it for lobby verification; it stays off the public directory unless you opt in.

Register: the last box

One form puts you in the player pool. Register by the sign-up cutoff (11:59 PM ET on the day before the draft) and you are in the draft; after it, you are placed on a club as depth automatically.

6 Open the register page

Register to play takes you there — but the form stays locked until you are in the Discord and have an EA ID on file. Until then it shows Join the server and a red "You need your EA ID on file to register."

7 Pick a position, then submit

8 You’re registered

A toast reads “You’re registered for Season 1!”, the card becomes Update registration with a REGISTERED chip, and Register disappears from the top bar. From here the season is short and simple: the sign-up cutoff on Friday night (the day before the draft), draft night on Saturday, then puck drop the Wednesday after, with no pre-season and no free-agency week. Register in time and you are in the draft; miss it and you still play: you are placed on a club as depth once the draft concludes. RULE 2.8 Changed your mind while the window is open? Use Withdraw my sign-up.

ONCE YOU’RE IN

Find your way around

Your profile lives in Settings, the bell carries every alert, and the sidebar is your map.

9 Finish your profile in Settings

Settings holds your League profile — EA ID, Platform (PS5, XSX or PC) and Save profile. Your display name is read-only; it follows your Discord name within minutes. The Discord account card shows `IN THE SERVER` or lets you Link a different Discord account.

10 Watch the bell

The bell carries game codes, lineups, rulings and deadlines. Unread alerts are highlighted; Mark all as read clears them, and Sound on chimes new ones.

11 Learn your sidebar

Every member gets a My Hub group — Dashboard, Availability, Action Center, Notifications, Settings. Once you are on a roster, Lineups joins the group and your avatar menu adds My player profile.

12 Run a club? Team HQ appears

Owners, GMs and AGMs get a second Team HQ group below the personal one — Management, Roster, Schedule, Lineup builder, Trade Hub and more. Ordinary members never see it.

WATCH OUT

Your EA ID must be the exact name you play under — box scores match on it, and a wrong one costs you a season of stats. And leaving the league Discord before you are placed on a club withdraws a pending sign-up after about a day (Rule 1.1); rejoining restores nothing, so sign up again.

GOOD TO KNOW

Signing in only asks Discord for your identity — it never adds you to the server, so join with the invite yourself and press I've joined — re-check (presence syncs every few minutes). Want a different position? File a Position change in the Action Center before the sign-up cutoff — after it, your position is fixed for the season. `RULE 2.9`
