WHERE IT LIVES

The war room

The Draft desk lives in Team HQ. It builds your board before the night and runs your picks during it. The public draft room is for everyone else.

1 Open the Draft desk

Sign in with Discord, then open Draft at the bottom of the Team HQ group in the hub sidebar. Only the club's Owner, GM and AGM see it.

#/hub/draft

2 Read the status strip

Five tiles run across the top: draft status, the pick clock, who is on the clock, your next pick, and how many players are on your board. Before the night it reads Board set — not started.

BEFORE THE NIGHT

Rank your board

Every player who registers is in the pool; the sign-up cutoff — 11:59 PM ET on the Thursday before the draft — closes it. Add players and drag them into order. There is no wrong answer, only an empty one.

3 The board unlocks with the pool

Until sign-ups come in the board is Locked . As the pool fills, My draft board opens — private to your club, and never seen by another front office.

4 Search, filter, Add

Type a gamertag in Search the pool or tap a position filter — C · LW · RW · LD · RD · G — then press Add . He lands at the bottom of your list.

5 Order it

The arrows move a player up, down or straight to #1; X drops him. Your top available player is the one the one-click pick offers you on the night — and the one the league takes for you if your clock runs out.

6 Watch Board coverage

The Board coverage chip grades your list against your remaining picks. Short (amber) means you have fewer names than picks — the league would draft best-available overall once your board runs dry. Covered (green) means you are set for the whole night.

LOCKED

Boards unlock when the pool is published

Every player registered by the sign-up cutoff (Thu, Jul 23) is in the draft (Rule 2.8). The pool appears here as sign-ups come in — rank your targets, and your board is ready for draft night.

THE ORDER

Drawn at random, then it snakes

The commissioner draws the order before the night and publishes it. Odd rounds run in the drawn order, even rounds in reverse — pick last in round one, pick first in round two.

THE DRAFT, PICK BY PICK · YOUR ROWS ARE TINTED

7 Find your rows

The draft, pick by pick lists every pick of the night with your club's rows tinted — so you can see exactly when you are up. The number of rounds is a season setting the commissioner publishes before the draft; the desk is built to it. Picks cannot be traded this season, so the order you see is the order the night runs.

RULES 2.3 · 2.8

On the clock

Every club gets 120 seconds a pick. When the strip turns red, it is you.

8 One click from your board
Your tile turns red and a bar reads “You’re on the clock.” Press Draft <your #1> (board #1) and he is yours — the toast confirms it and the clock passes to the next club.

9 Or choose from the pool
Choose from the pool opens the whole pool with a search box. Press Draft beside any name. Players already taken are struck off your board live — GONE · UTA — so you never draft a ghost.

10 Miss the clock? The board picks for you
Run the clock to 0:00 and the league auto-drafts the top available player from your board. No board? Best available overall. The strip keeps counting down to your next pick all night.

11 A skipped pick is still yours
If a pick has to be skipped, it waits under Make-up picks. Use this pick opens the pool for it any time before the draft ends.

The draft room

Every member and guest watches the same picks land live in the draft room — no management access needed — and in #draft-hub on the Discord.

12 Watch it live
Open The draft room for the live clock, the club on the clock, the Latest picks ticker and the full board. Players see their own name land the moment it is called; the same pick posts to #draft-hub. Once the draft concludes, anyone still undrafted is placed on a club as depth ten minutes later — nobody is left out. RULE 2.8

What a pick costs

Every drafted player signs a one-season deal at a salary fixed by his round. The first round pays the most; each round down is $250K less, to the $750K minimum in the last round.

120
seconds on the clock, every pick

15
active-roster spots to fill — two full lines plus three of any position (Rule 2.1)

1
season on every contract — everyone re-enters next year’s draft (Rule 2.5)

$750K
the league minimum, and the pay of the last round and every depth placement

WATCH OUT
The draft can’t start until every club has an Owner, a GM and an AGM (Rule 2.6) — the league office seats an empty post first. Draft to the shape: at most 9 forwards, 7 defensemen or 5 goaltenders fit on a 15-man roster, and the desk refuses a pick that would break it. And bring a full board: a short board plus a dropped connection is how you end up with three goalies.

GOOD TO KNOW
Your board is never sent to another club, and the auto-pick reads it exactly as you ordered it — so order matters more than length. If your Owner set Draft to Owner approves, board saves queue for approval; on the night, picks themselves are always immediate (Rule 2.6). Puck drop is the Wednesday after the draft — your first lineups are due that afternoon.
