

WAIVE A PLAYER

Immediate and final. He leaves your roster, his cap hit clears, and any club may sign him outright at the league minimum.

One button on the Roster page, one confirm. Then the player sits on the Waived players board until a club with room signs him — or until the movement deadline closes it.

WHERE IT LIVES

The Roster page, one row at a time

Every player you may move has four buttons on his row. The management seats have none — they cannot be waived, traded or blocked.

1 Open Team HQ → Roster

From any hub page, open the Team HQ group in the left sidebar and pick Roster. The page is confidential to your front office: salaries, cap space and block status live here.

#/hub/roster

2 Find the row, press Waive

Each rostered player's row ends in To camp · To block · Trade · Waive. Camp players and depth placements have the same buttons. Your Owner, GM and AGM read Management contract — protected instead. RULE 2.6

ROSTER ROWS · WAIVE SITS AT THE END OF THE ROW

Confirm, and he's gone

The confirm dialog says exactly what happens. There is no league-office step and no undo.

3 Read the confirm, then Waive player

The dialog reads: “They come off your roster immediately, their cap hit clears, and any club with room in their position group can sign them at the league minimum until the movement deadline (Rule 2.2). The move is logged for the whole league.” Press Waive player.

One button, one deal (Rule 2.2): A waived player signs at the league minimum — $750K to the end of the season — the moment you press Sign; he is not asked, the league office confirms nothing, and he is on your roster immediately. Your cap space and roster room are checked when you sign, and the move is logged for the whole league.

SIGN LEMIEUX4EVER?

He joins your roster the moment you confirm — $750K to the end of the season, the one deal a waived player can sign in this format. He is not asked and the league office confirms nothing; the signing is logged for the whole league (Rule 2.2).

In this format the page is the Waived players board: every player a club has let go. Approach opens a direct message so you can talk it over first. The Sign button stays grey while your roster is full — waive or trade to make room.

6 Sign — the deal is fixed

Press Sign, read the one line, press Sign player. $750K to the end of the season, and he is on your roster the moment you confirm. There is no offer and no acceptance in this format — clubs move players, players are not asked — and the league office confirms nothing.

RULE 2.2

When a seat needs sign-off

7 Queued, then decided

The manager sees a banner — “ItzPeakz approves roster moves” — and his waiver waits under it with Withdraw. The Owner decides at Team HQ → Management → Approvals:

Approve runs the waiver on the spot; Deny closes it with a note. RULE 2.6

An Owner can set a GM’s or AGM’s Roster page to Owner approves. Then a waiver queues instead of acting.

WATCH OUT

Three games first (Rule 2.4): a player can be waived only after he has played 3 regular-season games this season; until then the Waive button waits and shows his count. Waiving is then immediate and final — there is no waiver window, no claim order and no league-office step. The moment you confirm, the player is off your roster, he is pulled from every lineup you had filed for him, and any club may sign him, including the one you play tomorrow. Check the Road to 16 card first: the games he has played stay with him, and if he is short of the playoff floor (16 in Season 1) that is his problem on a new club, not yours.

GOOD TO KNOW

All movement — waivers and the signing of waived players included — closes at midnight at the end of the Friday of week 4, the movement deadline; after that rosters freeze through the playoffs (Rule 2.4). Moving a player to training camp is not a waiver: he stays yours, his salary still counts, and you can call him back up at any time (Rule 2.1).
